

THE KARMAPA

September 13, 2006

To whom it may concern

The Gyuto monastery is one of the few important institutes of Tibetan Buddhism where the ancient, sacred Tantric teachings and traditions are practiced and preserved.

Now the monastery is sending a group of monks to the countries like Taiwan and United States of America in the interest of the monastery's welfare and above all in view of the forthcoming visit of His Holiness the Dalai Lama at its branch center, the Gyuto Vajrayana Center in San Jose, California in the year 2007.

Thus, I would greatly appreciate from all the concerned authorities and general public their absolute support and cooperation in this regard.

His Holiness the 17th Gyalwa Karmapa Ugyen Trinley Dorjee.
